

Rationing Permits Two And One-Half Pounds Of Meat Per Person Per Week

Fish, Cheese, Fats Also Go On Point Plan Order Monday

Washington, March 24 (AP)—Disclosure today of coupon values of meat showed that Americans will be allowed, starting Monday, to buy a maximum of 2½ pounds of steak or 3 1-5 pounds of hamburger per person per week under rationing.

Actually, most people will buy less because they will want to use some of the same coupons for butter, lard, cheese or canned fish. They will have 16 points to spend per week at an average coupon cost of 8 points per pound for the whole group of foods.

A typical budget probably will be, per person, two pounds of meat plus perhaps a quarter pound of butter and a quarter pound of cheese. A whole pound of butter calls for eight points.

Liberal Rations
OPA said the "rations are relatively more liberal than the rations for processed foods," but the impact will vary sharply in each family. Families that have liked and been able to afford to eat a lot of meat may find their rations only a fraction of their customary purchases, but in some of the poorest classes, the ration may exceed what families may be able to afford.

Compared with such things as gasoline and shoe rationing, the new program will affect the lives of Americans more than any other type of rationing undertaken so far. By Monday, about the only important unrationed foods in grocery stores will be milk, bread, cereals, preserves and fresh fruits and vegetables.

On the brighter side, the plan is designed to even up meat supplies—at least after it has been in operation a couple of weeks—and will help those localities which have had the most acute meat shortages.

Divide Supplies
The government said the new rationing is necessary to divide up a curtailed civilian supply because of heavy diversion of these foods to the armed services and Lend-Lease. Some packers and stock men have blamed the shortage on government interference with normal producing and marketing procedures.

Restaurants and other public eating places continue without customer coupons, but their over-all food supplies are rationed and officials are considering legal limitations on portions. OPA officials hinted that people could not expect to supplement their home meat rations very much by dining out.

Only farmers are exempt, being authorized to eat as much as they desire of their own produce, although they must collect coupons if they sell any of it to outside consumers. Farmers also hope that rationing will restrain wholesale and retail meat prices sufficiently to obviate an OPA proposal for restricting the prices of live meat animals.

Effective Monday
The new point values were unveiled to the press by OPA with charts, tables, volumes of explanatory matter and quiz sessions.

The new plan goes into effect at 12:01 a. m. Monday.
During the first week, each person must use the red A stamps in his Number 2 ration book (the one in which blue stamps are used for canned goods) to buy meat except poultry and game, edible fats and oils, except olive oil and salad dressings, cheese except soft and perishable cheeses such as cottage cheese, and canned fish or shell fish. Meats are rationed whether fresh, frozen, cooked or cured.

The following week, any left over A's plus the red B stamps may be used, and in the third week the left over A's and B's plus the red C stamps. The same carryover is provided in the fourth week, but all four weeks' stamps expire together on April 30. Procedure after that remains to be determined.

Babies Get 16 Points
At least during April, this will cause great variance in weekly purchases, since some people may want to save some of their early-month coupons for a splurge in the final week of April.

However, the real purpose of this system of accumulating coupons for the first month is to give a fair break to people in some communities where meat or butter may be especially scarce in the early part of the month.

The Red A coupons will give each person—even babies—16 points, which is the total of the 8, 5, 2 and 1 point stamps printed in red and marked A.

One may then buy meat or butter or cheese or anything else on the list according to its point value as he desires. For instance, vegetarians may spend all their points on butter and cheese while some people may buy practically nothing but meat. The system is virtually the same as the point values for canned goods.

Buehler and Mrs. Perry Tawney conducted the devotions. Special music was rendered by a quartette comprising Mrs. H. S. Fox, Mrs. Wilbur Moser, Miss Ruth Spangler and Mrs. Donald Myers, with Miss Alice Snyder at the piano.

The Rev. H. S. Fox spoke on the matter of post-war planning, explaining the Delaware Conference plan in detail. He urged that all Christians "give this matter serious thought so that when victory comes a just peace may be arranged."

MRS. J. WEAVER OF NEW OXFORD DIES OF BURNS

Mrs. Elsie G. Weaver, 56, wife of Joseph I. Weaver, New Oxford, died at the Hanover hospital Tuesday evening at 7:45 o'clock from burns received about noon Tuesday while engaged in ironing clothing in the kitchen of her home.

From reports Mrs. Weaver was using an electric iron and the iron is thought to have ignited the covering on the ironing board and spread to her clothing, causing multiple burns about her body. Mrs. Amanda Mauss, who resides at the Weaver residence, discovered Mrs. Weaver enveloped by the flames and her screams brought neighbors to the scene. They extinguished the flames.

Farmers Must Collect Stamps For Meat Sales

Farmers who sell meats, cheese or home-canned goods to patrons at the Farmers' Market must collect stamps from the customers' War Ration books just as though the goods were being bought at a store, the local War Price and Rationing Board said today. The stamps must be turned in to the local rationing office within 10 days after being collected.

Stamps on canned goods must be collected now and when meat rationing begins Monday the stamps for meat and cheese sales will have to be exchanged for the goods. The ration office also stated that any housewives using home-preserved fruits or vegetables to produce goods for sale must register immediately with the OPA in Washington, D.C., as a food processor. For instance, if a housewife uses home-canned peaches to bake a pie which she sells, she must register with the OPA as a processor on Form R1305.

HOSPITAL REPORT

Patients admitted to the Warner hospital included Mrs. George McGlaughlin, Fairfield; Walter Foulk, Gettysburg; Mrs. Francis Shultz, Fairfield, and Richard C. Debblor of Gettysburg college. H. C. L. Miller, Hotel Gettysburg, was discharged today. The address of Mrs. Bertha Tyson, Gardners, was given incorrectly in Tuesday's announcement of her admission to the hospital.

Please

Wanted: At least a half dozen women to serve as nurse's aides. They are needed.

That's the appeal that came from the Red Cross offices this morning with the announcement that the class of instruction for nurse's aides, scheduled for Monday afternoon, had been cancelled because of an insufficient number of volunteers.

With steadily increasing work at the hospital and the added work at the college infirmary, with more to be expected next month, there is a dire need for more nurse's aides.

Those who can spare a few hours of their spare time are urged to communicate with Mrs. Henry M. Scharf, chairman of the committee, so that a class may be started at once.

AIR CORPS MEN PLAN PLAY FOR TOWN, COLLEGE

In appreciation of the courtesies accorded them by the college and the town of Gettysburg, members of the Army Air Corps Training Detachment at the college will present a play on the nights of April 9 and 10 to which college officials and students and town people have been invited as guests. The production will be given in the college gymnasium.

"An Air Cadet Candidate's Dream" is the title of the production which will include a combination of singing, solos and quartets, piano and instrumental music, selections by an Air Corps orchestra, comedians, cartoonists and a medley of other features.

The idea originated with the men. Officers here had nothing to do with the plans and all the responsibility, such as production, selection of the cast, rehearsals, stage settings and equipment will be in charge of the men.

Variety Show
Private John G. Ondrasek, who has had some theatrical experience in Fondulac, Wisconsin, is the director.

Private Earl Sherman is in charge of continuity; Burton Terry in charge of music; Lansing Jeroleman in charge of audience gags; Richard E. Henderson in charge of talent acts; Kenneth Sheridan, publicity and property; John Doswell, backstage; Henry Skowronski, costumes; Jerome Ivice, theatre.

140 VOLUNTEERS TO GIVE BLOOD TO R.C. FRIDAY

One hundred and forty Adams countians—most of them from the Biglerville area—received notices through the mail Tuesday and today that they have been given the now familiar "appointments to save lives" by giving a pint of blood each when the mobile blood donor unit of the Red Cross comes here from Harrisburg, Friday.

Friday's trip will be the third monthly visit of the Red Cross doctors and nurses with their white coats and refrigerated cases in which the individual pints of blood are stored for immediate shipment to laboratories for final tests and for the separation of the plasma from the corpuscles.

Friday's appointments begin at 12 o'clock and run through until 4:30 o'clock. No donors have been called in for the morning hours. Radford H. Lippy, the local blood donor service chairman, said that as many pints of blood can be received by starting at 12 o'clock and working steadily until 4:30 or 5 o'clock as under the former system of starting in the morning but interrupting for a noon recess.

Need 4 Million Pints

Local nurses' aides, registered nurses and other volunteer helpers will be on hand again on Friday. Ladies of the Methodist church will be in charge in the kitchen at the Christ Lutheran church where the blood donor station has been conducted monthly.

Countians who report at the blood donor station Friday will be helping the Red Cross fill an order for 4,000,000 pints of blood this year for use of the nation's fighting men on world wide battlefronts. Army and Navy officials describe the blood donor project as "one of the most important in which the civilian public is engaged today," in a current issue of the Red Cross Courier.

207 Pints Here

In that same publication an article titled "Two Thousand Tons of Blood," has this to say about the huge quantities of blood asked of the civilian public to help bring life back to wounded or burned soldiers or sailors from India to North Africa:

"3,300,000 pints—that's more than two thousand tons of blood. It's almost twice the population of the United States when Washington was elected president. It approximates the number of Russian casualties. It's several thousand times the population of Lidice and many times more than the number of men MacArthur had on Bataan."

On the first visits of the blood donor unit to Adams county more than 200 pints of blood were received—102 in January and 105 in February.

Wounded Soldier Reported Better

Sgt. John L. Lawrence, 37, who was seriously wounded in north Africa on January 31, continues to improve, according to a letter received by his mother, Mrs. Catherine M. Lawrence, Irishtown, New Oxford R. 2, from the War department.

The letter to Mrs. Lawrence stated: "I am pleased to inform you that a report dated March 13, 1943, has been received from the north African area stating that on March 7 your son, Sergeant John L. Lawrence, 6814829, was convalescing. When further information is received concerning him, you will be notified immediately."

Mrs. Lawrence first received word of her son's being wounded in a telegram from the Adjutant General's office on February 22. Later she was notified that there was "slight improvement" in his condition. Recently the infantryman's mother sent him a radiogram wishing him speedy recovery.

Woman Who Heard Lincoln Succumbs

Mrs. Charles McDonald Brown, 99, who was in the audience when President Abraham Lincoln dedicated the national cemetery here November 19, 1863, died March 17 at her home in Lakeland, Florida.

Mrs. Brown described her experiences here when Lincoln spoke: "President Lincoln had hardly stood up to speak before he sat down again," Mrs. Brown told a Chataqua audience in 1939. "No one realized that what he said would go down in history; we all thought it was just the preface to his speech." She stated that Lincoln looked very sad and tired. She also recalled that when the President arrived at the cemetery the soldiers fired a salute and the noise so frightened her sister that she fainted and the men on the speakers' platform handed down the glass of water that had been placed there for Lincoln.

Mrs. Brown was born in Harrisburg. She is survived by two daughters and a son.

SCRAP GROUPS PLAN BIG DRIVE

The first of a series of district meetings in preparation for the Spring Salvage Drive in Adams county was held Tuesday evening at the Biglerville high school building with O. H. Benson, county salvage chairman, in charge.

The chairman of salvage committees in the Biglerville, Arendtsville, Bendersville, Gardners, Aspers and Idaville area were present to make plans for early meetings of their individual committees to complete community arrangements for the big drive for all types of scrap in April.

Some of the towns already have begun campaigns for the collection of tin cans which will be brought to Gettysburg to help make up a carload for direct shipment to a de-tinning plant.

Chairmen present Tuesday evening included: Lloyd Klinefelter of the Biglerville section; C. A. Smith, Arendtsville; Dale Crum, Bendersville, and Loman Day for Gardners and Idaville. Upper county scout leaders and salvage committee members also were present.

Mr. Benson said that other sectional meetings will be held throughout the county to avoid the necessity of a general county salvage meeting which would involve considerable traveling for many of the members.

administered emergency treatment and ordered the burned woman to the Hanover hospital, where she was taken by ambulance. It is said that Mrs. Weaver had been in declining health during the past year, and it is thought that she may have fainted while ironing and fallen across the board, with the iron setting it afire.

Minor damage was done to the kitchen of the Weaver home. York County Coroner L. U. Zech issued the death certificate, giving the cause of death as first, second and third degree burns, and released the body to Funeral Director W. A. Feiser of Hanover.

"PENNY MILK" AT BIGLERVILLE

Distribution of the first "penny milk" to Adams county school children started Monday in the Biglerville public schools when 245 half-pint bottles were handed out at a cost of one cent each, L. V. Stock, the supervising principal, said.

Grade school children were given an opportunity to buy the milk at 10:10 a. m. and again at 2:15 p. m. but the high school pupils bought milk only in the morning.

Mr. Stock said an effort will be made to have every pupil who is found to be 10 per cent underweight buy the milk regularly. The milk is available to any pupil who wishes to have it.

The milk is made available through the Food Distribution administration of the federal government which pays part of the cost in an effort to make sure that school pupils throughout the nation will have adequate nourishment in spite of the rationing of many foods.

The milk is bought locally and the local cost is shared by the Parent-Teacher association of Biglerville and the Upper County Lions club, Mr. Stock said.

Besides the musical program, there will be exhibits of classroom work of the various departments of the school. The classrooms will open at 7:15 o'clock and again from 10 to 11 o'clock so that musicale patron may inspect the displays.

Fish, Cheese,

jumping everything from pigs feet to porterhouse, is 6 points per pound, but the most popular types average 8 points. Typical 8 point cuts are all beefsteak (except boned sirloin which is 9), veal loin chops, center pork chops, loin lamb chops, fresh or cured sliced ham, and either sliced or slab bacon with the rind off. Roasts are mostly 6 to 8 points per pound.

Hamburger is only 5 points per pound, but a catch here is that OPA's definition of hamburger is something made exclusively of scraps and other waste meats. If one wants better ground meat, he will have to buy it in its original form, pay the regular point value, and then have it ground to order.

Cheaper Meats

Other cheaper meats include stew meat at between 4 and 6 points per pound, spare ribs at 4, beef brains at 3, beef liver at 6 or pork liver at 5, and ready to eat pigs feet at 2 points per pound.

Some high-point items include: Boneless loin pork chops, 10; pork tenderloin, 10; dried beef, 12; Canadian bacon, 11; whole or half of ready-to-eat ham at 9 or 11 if sliced.

All butter and rationed types of cheese are 8 points per pound; lard, shortening and margarine, 5; salad and cooking oils, 6 points per pound or pint; all canned fish, 7 points per pound (figuring can't total cost according to label weight of contents).

Generally, ready-to-eat meats, especially delicatessen items, were given point values 2 points per pound if unsliced (or 3 points per pound if sliced) higher than the coupon cost of the raw meat. This differential was selected to take care of shrinkage and waste in processing. Thus, to find the point value of corned beef, as an example, a butcher will have to figure out what cut of meat it was made out of, the point value of the meat in its original form, and add 2 or 3 points per pound, depending on whether the finished products is sold whole or sliced.

Value of Ham Varies

A whole or half fresh ham, for instance, will cost 7 points per pound, while the same ham in ready-to-eat condition costs 9 points. Ready to eat sliced ham is a slight exception from the rule, and costs 11 points per pound.

The government ordered that all meats should be sold on a "normal trim" basis. That meant that butchers are supposed to cut off a "normal" amount of bone and fat before weighing. However, consumers will have to do their own policing of the order, and if dissatisfied can do nothing but argue with the butcher or take their trade elsewhere.

DEATH CLAIMS COUNTY NATIVE

Robert L. Myers, a native of Round Hill, Adams county, who became president of the Lemoyne Trust company and who was at one time a member of the House of Representatives, died Tuesday at his home in Camp Hill. Funeral services will be held Friday.

Mr. Myers was born November 16, 1863 at Round Hill where his great-grandfather Philip Nicholas Myers settled in 1736. His father, the late Adam Smyser Myers, was a storekeeper and farmer in that section.

Educated in the Adams County public schools and at Cumberland Valley State Normal school, Mr. Myers taught and supervised schools in Adams county and at White Hall Soldiers Orphans school, and in Dauphin and Wiconisco. He moved to Camp Hill in 1890. He later organized the R. L. Myers and company publishing house which published text books in Harrisburg. For a number of years he was manager of a teachers' agency. He married Joanna Bowman, of Camp Hill, in 1887. He helped organize the bank of which he was president in 1905.

SPOTTERS VIEW "WAR ON WEAR" SPECIAL FILM MEETING HERE

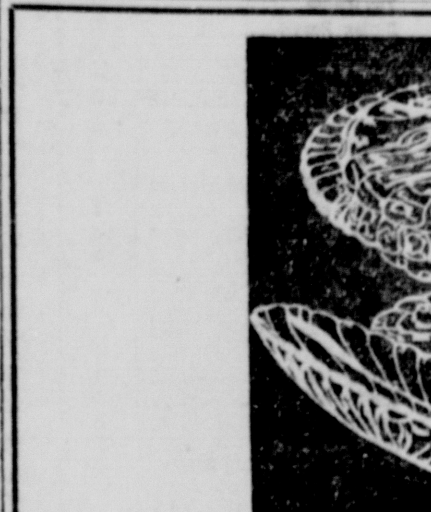

Nearly 200 spotters connected with the local post of the Aircraft Warning service, attended the showing of a motion picture on what happens after a spotter gives a flash call. The film was shown at the court house Tuesday evening.

Shown by two members of the Air Corps Aircraft Warning service of the Harrisburg district, the picture showed the reception of a flash call at a filter station, the setting up of a card representing the information called in by the observer and the placing of the card on a map of the area served by the central station. The movement of the card across the map as other spotters in other communities reported passage of the plane was also shown. The picture showed what happens when an unidentified airplane is reported, giving details of how army officers at the central station inform the nearest army airport and how the army pilots investigate the strange plane.

Following the picture the two soldiers answered a number of questions on spotting asked by the various observers present.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

THE ETERNAL GRUMBLER

My Latin never was A-1.
O'er Caesar's lines I used to stumble,
But, ere he crossed the Rubicon, I'm sure he heard the home folks grumble.

All of his book that I recall (And this to many I've confided) Is its beginning: "All of Gaul Is in three separate parts divided."

But I am sure that while he fought Where Pompey had his legions stationed,
The discontented Romans thought Spices should never have been rationed.

Shakespeare, who knew the story well
And dramatized the conquering Roman,
Gave Cassius a speech to tell He thought J. Caesar just a show man.

Has human nature changed a bit
Its selfish views of taxes, wages?
Or, asked to sacrifice, must it Go grumbling ever down the ages?

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

LIFE, THE SCULPTOR

Recently I spent several hours viewing a group of carved marble figures, expressing a variety of inward visions that came to the artists as they strove with tools to bring these visions into visible form.
Deeply did I feel the struggles and emotions that must have possessed those lovers of expression as they wrought to produce something that might live beyond their day of dreams.

In that gallery I viewed examples that had been unearthed after centuries of stillness and neglect. And yet there was the beauty and the dream revealed.

Then I went out into the moving world, with my friend, and there I saw the greatest sculptor of them all at work—Life.

I saw deep lines that this artist had cut into living faces. I saw bent figures, and sad eyes. I saw trouble, anxiety, and despair. But also, I saw beauty of expression, joy, will-power, and happiness, each cut unmistakably into faces that had braved defeat and challenged adversity.

Life, the sculptor, is ever at work.
Day and night his task goes on—never satisfied with what he does.
Never are his workings wholly complete, though many stand out as amazing masterpieces of long toil and silent effort.

Through every phase of the seasons does he labor. Not a single life escapes him. He works upon us all. We are his work. Men and women have sought to duplicate the work of this one perfect sculptor, through the medium of marble, plaster and bronze. Never but faintly have they ever succeeded, however.

In the fields, under the head of the sun does he work, in shops, factories, offices, upon the busy streets, in quiet nooks away from crowds, in hospitals where bodies are in pain, on the battle field, in desert wastes —wherever human beings breathe, he works away.

Life, the sculptor, is the perfect artist. Never has he left a false piece of work behind. Our thoughts guide his hand!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Value of Purpose."

Of the 138 million pounds of olives and olive oil imported in 1940, 57 million came from Spain, 50 million from Greece, 20 million from Italy and 9 million from Portugal.

Camp Colt the New Name Here: Camp Colt is the name selected by the War Department for the Gettysburg cantonment, which, since the arrival of the troops last summer, has simply been known as
"Camp of U. S. Regulars at Gettysburg."

The designation comes as an entirely unexpected innovation for there had been no intimation that the place was to be given any new name. The man honored by the action is Samuel Colt, who in 1835 patented the first revolver to bear his name. The total number in the barracks now is about 1,000.

Sergeant Major Hewitt is a son

County Farmers Hold Potatoes: Over one hundred thousand bushels of potatoes, over 36 per cent of the crop raised in Adams County are still held by our farmers. The same report from the Department of Agriculture says that in Pennsylvania over ten million bushels are held.

The condition was brought about by the extremely cold winter, impassable roads and the hope of many growers for higher spring prices.

Lewis Ordered To Testify Or Face Contempt Charge

LABOR LEADER
"DEFIANT" BUT
IS CHALLENGED

Washington, March 24 (AP)—A subpoena—carrying with it the threat of a contempt penalty for refusal to respond—was the Senate War Investigating committee's answer today to John L. Lewis' refusal to make a "definite commitment" to testify Friday on labor's responsibility for increasing war production.

Bristling with indignation over an exchange of correspondence in which the bushy-browed president of the United Mine Workers asserted he would "gladly appear" if the state of coal wage negotiations in New York permitted, Chairman Truman (D-Mo) dispatched an investigator to serve Lewis with a summons.

Truman Determined
"Neither Lewis, nor any big corporation official nor anybody else is going to ignore this committee," Truman told reporters. "We are trying to learn how production can be improved and to learn labor's position on inflation, strikes and jurisdictional disputes."

"Lewis will obey the subpoena or take the consequences," In New York, Lewis' press representative, K. C. Adams, said the union leader had made plans to come to Washington even before hearing of the subpoena.

"Mr. Lewis will appear before the Truman committee on Friday," his office said.

Presidents Phillip Murray of the CIO and William Green of the AFL accepted invitations to testify at the reopening of the production-manpower inquiry today.

"Mercy Death" Is Asked For Horse

Pittsburgh, March 24 (AP)— Memories of "Black Beauty" and some of her unfortunate companions hung about the office of the Allegheny county commissioners today as they considered a plea for a "mercy death" for faithful "Old Robin," veteran of the county's mounted police force, rather than placing him on the auction block.

Dr. A. W. Pfarr, veterinarian, after examining 10 horses which the commissioners intend to sell, personally begged that "Robin" now 19, be given a humane death.

"He has been a good, faithful old fellow in our parks since his beginning," Pfarr told the commissioners yesterday.
"He has done his duties like the good soldier he is. He might not get the home he deserves or might end up hauling a dry wagon."

The ten horses are scheduled tentatively to be auctioned off on April 7.
By then some decision will have been made about Robin.

SUPREME COURT
FAILS TO USE
BIBLICAL RULE

Pittsburgh, March 24 (AP)—The state Supreme court did not follow the ruling of old King Solomon in deciding to give a two-year-old baby to its foster parents instead of its natural mother.

In a decision which set aside a Superior and Common Pleas court finding, the high court directed that the baby, Mona Lee Piper Edberg, remain with Mr. and Mrs. E. H.
Edberg of Greensburg.

Mrs. Marian L. Piper of Pittsburgh, in habeas corpus action, charged the baby's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Prunkard, forced her to sign an agreement giving the child to the Edbergs, who had advertised for an adoption.

The mother claimed the baby was taken from her in the hospital where it was born and that it was almost a year before she learned of her daughter's whereabouts.

Justice William M. Parker wrote in his majority opinion:

"A natural mother could not have given more tender and intelligent attention to the welfare of this child than the appellants (the Edbergs) have and under the circumstances it would be a grave injustice to remove it from the home where it has been so tenderly cared for."

"When we consider, as is conceded on all hands, that the welfare of the child is a matter of paramount consideration in determining its custody, we can arrive at no other conclusion than that the child should remain where it is."

King Solomon's decision involved a different angle—a question of which of two women was the mother of a child. He directed the child be cut in two, so each woman might have one-half, then gave the baby to the woman who screamed a plea to save its life, deciding that one was the natural mother.

Last year, British "Digging for Victory" gardens produced between 40 and 60 million dollars' worth of fresh vegetables.

A thief stole a four-foot Victory cake from a War Bond rally, tempted by the pink and white frosting.

It was a paper mache cake for exhibition purposes. The real one, to be divided among bond purchasers, hadn't been baked yet.

LEG OF LAMB

El Paso, Tex. (AP)—Two plump sheep grazed near the railroad tracks.

Along came a hungry railroad section gang.

Mutton was the main course of the meal, asserts District Attorney Roy Jackson, who charges two workers with converting the sheep into mutton and distributing it among the others.

WOULD SHIFT
FISH POWERS TO EXECUTIVE

Harrisburg, March 24 (AP)— Powers of the Pennsylvania Commissioner of Fisheries would be shifted to the seven-man board of Fish Commissioners under a bill introduced in the State legislature today.

Senator John M. Walker (R-Allegheny) proposed that the board elect a president and vice president and appoint an executive director. Under the present law, C. A.
French, present Commissioner of Fisheries, is also president, chief executive officer and superintendent of hatcheries.

The Walker measure stipulates no member of the board or any person who has been a member within one year shall be eligible for appointment as executive director.

The fish commission, set up in 1929, is a self-sustaining administrative board receiving its chief income from fishing license fees. It is charged with the enforcement of all fishing laws and stocking bodies of water with fish.

May Extend Turnpike

Another bill before the Senate would require that the five-member State parole board consist of an expert in penology, a psychologist, a psychiatrist, a lawyer and a political scientist, economist or sociologist. The bill was introduced by Senator Wallace S. Gouley (D-Washington).

The upper chamber yesterday reported out of committee a measure calling for repeal of the 1941 act which created the present parole system.

Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike from Irvin to a point on the Ohio or West Virginia State line by the State Bridge, Tunnel and Roadway Commission was proposed in another measure submitted by Senator John M. Walker (R-Allegheny).

In the House, a bill designed to curb anthracite mine cave-ins was sponsored by Rep. Edward Regan (D-Lackawanna). The measure would make it unlawful to mine hard coal "so as to cause the cave-in, collapse or subsidence" of any public structure or improvement.

Girl, 6, Walks First Time Since Birth

Philadelphia, March 24 (AP)— Little Kathleen Walsh is walking today—for the first time in her six years of life.

The child had been unable to use her legs because of a congenital distortion of the hips. Two years ago her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Smith Walsh, of Westville Grove, New Jersey, placed her in Osteopathic hospital and three operations were performed.

Yesterday Kathleen was discharged.
She has to use crutches, but a hospital spokesman said she probably will be able to throw them away shortly.

On the day of her discharge her sister, Theresa, 12, was admitted to the same hospital suffering from pneumonia, but doctors said her condition was not serious.

SENATORS PLAN
"BOILING DOWN"
OF PEACE PACTS

By FRANCIS J. KELLY

Washington, March 24 (AP)— Confronted by half a dozen resolutions aimed at "winning the peace" and preventing future wars, members of the Senate Foreign Relations committee today considered the advisability of creating a large subcommittee to boil them down.

Plainly aware that every move they make may arouse the widest repercussions, the committeemen approached today's meeting with a make haste slowly attitude.

Such a course apparently was agreeable to the sponsors of the various resolutions, including Senators Hill (D-Ala), Hatch (D-NM), Ball (R-Minn) and Burton (R-Ohio), who have proposed that the United States initiate conversations among the United Nations to win the war, assist in the economic rehabilitation of war ravaged countries, and establish machinery for the peaceful settlement of future international disputes, backed up by a United Nations military force.

Plan Full Discussions Senators Maybank (D-SC) and Brewster (R-Me) joined in radio speeches last night in support of the Hill-Hatch-Ball-Burton proposal, which they said would open the way to a full discussion of postwar problems by the American people as well as by their representatives in Congress.

"This is a people's war," Maybank said. "Let us help make it a people's peace."

Brewster said that through the years the Senate had permitted the constitutional provision relating to giving the President "advice and consent" in foreign affairs to come to mean "simply consent."

"The Senate in foreign relations had tended to become simply a huddle of Monday morning quarterbacks telling how the game might better have been won," he said.

Senator Ball claimed that support for the resolution still was mounting among senators.

Pfarr Opposed
For Another Term

Pittsburgh, March 24 (AP)—After serving for 30 years as Allegheny county fire marshal, Thomas L.
Pfarr finally has an opponent for his post.

Appearing before Judge James O'Toole in Common Pleas court for the customary nod of approval Tuesday that would have renamed him to office for another 12 months, Pfarr found a rival in Peter J. McGuirk of Swissvale.

McGuirk has served 38 years with the Swissvale fire department, 30 as its chief. He also is chief deputy in the Allegheny county Civilian Defense Fire-Fighting service and said he has the support of the County Volunteer Firemen's association.

POST-WAR PLAN
CALLED "FUTILE"

Washington, March 24 (AP)—Advocates of immediate postwar planning were challenged Tuesday by Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis) to show how their proposal to initiate an organization of the United Nations would be binding on any country, including the United States.

A member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee which will consider the proposal along with others of a similar nature today, LaFollette described a resolution introduced by Senators Ball (R-Minn), Burton (R-Ohio), Hatch (D-NM) and Hill (D-Ala) as "an extreme manifestation of futility."

"It isn't binding on anyone, including its authors," LaFollette told reporters.

Chairman Sol Bloom of the House Foreign Affairs committee described it as "an example of the disjointed and scattered thinking that is going on both within and without Congress."

Bloom, asserting postwar plan proposals now before Congress
"don't go deep enough," indicated he planned to call a conference of members of both the Senate and the House soon "to get down to bed rock."

"What is needed," he said, "is a joint committee of the Senate and House that will formulate a fundamental comprehensive proposal on postwar problems to be introduced simultaneously in both Senate and House. Then we will have a unified expression on this vast subject with tremendous impetus behind it that will open the way to a prosecution and winning of the peace, the same as a thousand committees are now prosecuting the war."

Store Had 160,000
Pounds Of Butter

Pittsburgh, March 24 (AP)—The OPA disclosed last Sunday's surprise ban on retail sales of butter caught a large Johnstown store with a 160,000-pound supply which had been purchased for a "pre-rationing special" for this week.

The store, without adequate refrigeration facilities to keep such a large supply, appealed for the U. S.
Department of Agriculture to take most of it.

The butter had been purchased in the Midwest and was to have been sold at 54 cents a pound, the OPA said it understood. The government's price of "cost plus transportation" will be about 48 cents a pound.

The OPA said one large Pittsburgh store also had a supply of 40,000 pounds when the sales freezing order was made, but has sufficient refrigeration to keep it.

NAZI'S PLANE
OUTPUT LAGS

By EDWIN SHANKE

Stockholm, March 24 (AP)—War plane production in Germany and enslaved countries has dropped from a peak of 3,000 a month to approximately 2,000 a month within the last year, an industrial engineer thoroughly familiar with Nazi war economy declared today.

The figures, which show the increasing difficulties Germany is facing in an effort to keep abreast of the Allies in air power, do not include training planes, this source said.

Inferior Labor

Among the causes of the decline, he listed inferior labor, due to the replacement of skilled men with inexperienced women and indifferent foreign hands, bottlenecks in transportation of coal and iron; undernourishment of workers, which after three years is beginning to result in a marked loss of efficiency, and finally the dislocation of war economy caused by paralyzing RAF raids.

The industrial expert said he thought Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair's recent statement in the British House of Commons gave a good picture of the real effects produced by RAF bombings of German industry.
Sinclair estimated the decline of daily coal production in the Ruhr, Saar and Aachen districts at 80,000 tons, the drop in steel output of the Duesseldorf-Duisburg plants at a million and a quarter tons.

SEEK METHODS OF FINANCING
PAY INCREASES

Harrisburg, March 24 (AP)—Final decision on methods of financing a proposed $13,000,000 a year teacher salary boost was expected today at a conference in Governor Martin's office of state officials and Pennsylvania legal authorities.

Republican legislative leaders said the conference was called by Attorney General James H. Duff to discuss the possibility of enacting a reduced state corporate net income tax with provisions of paying the levy before deductions for a similar federal im-post are made.

Official estimates place the increase in revenue from the change in payment of the corporate tax at almost $30,000,000 in the next biennium without increasing the payments of taxpayers.

Plan Water Hearings

Rep. D. Raymond Sollenberger (R-Blair), head of the House education committee, said he hoped to have the salary increase bill ready for House action in amended form before the close of the session today.
He added the amendments
"will not affect the proposed increases" for Pennsylvania's 63,000 teachers in the next biennium.

Isolation Island

and LOIS EBY

Chapter 20

Jim and Landa were sitting in the small patch of shade on the Sea Bat's deck beside Cass Wilson, resting from his dive, when Jim's gaze picked up the small white launch plowing back through the green waters of the strait.

"That's the launch I passed on my way out here," Landa said.
"It only had one man in then. Now it looks like there are three."

"I hope they go right on by," Jim said narrowing his eyes against the bright glint of sun on the water.
"I don't like strangers snooping around when I'm on this kind of a job."

They sat without talking as the white speck on the water came into sharper focus and headed straight for the Sea Bat.

"They're coming this way all right," Jim said grimly.

A moment later Landa let out a small cry of surprise. "Why it's Uncle Mike and Don with that stranger!"

Jim Blair's jaw tightened as his eyes confirmed what Landa had said.

Presently the chugging of the launch stopped as it swung alongside. Jim let down the rope ladder and then walked quickly to the open companionway. He called below to Cass Wilson, "Keep an eye open down there, Wilson, we've got strangers coming aboard."

When Jim got back to the rail O'Shanessey was introducing Hansen to Landa and mopping his florid face with a bright green handkerchief. He introduced Jim and then laid his arm comfortably around Landa's shoulders. Don was smiling broadly as he watched the puzzled look cross Landa's face.

"I guess the padre was right about not selling our papaya to those other buyers," Don said with a triumphant ring to his voice.

"How's that?" Landa said briefly.

From the corner of her eye Landa caught the cold, watchful expression on Jim Blair's face as he scrutinized the stranger.

"Mr. Hansen here is from a rival drug house and he has agreed to a much better proposition."

Hansen smiled and nodded. "I don't blame you people one bit for not wanting to ruin your lovely island with a lot of native workers and an unsightly crystallization plant. I wouldn't do it myself. Now, my company," Hansen went on, "has authorized me to come down here, take an option on a piece of ground over on the mainland, build the plant there and not disturb you folks one bit except for getting out the trees."

Landa saw the tension on Jim's face relax as he listened intently to the smooth flow of Hansen's words. Within her, her heart was singing as she looked from Don's happy face to the pleased look that held O'Shanessey's heavy features.

"I guess everything works out if you just have patience," O'Shan-essey said eagerly. "I'm inclined to get excited and let my Irish temper get the best of me at times." O'Shanessey dropped down into the large coil of rope that was in the shade and started mopping his forehead again.

"Blair, I'm mighty sorry for the way I treated you and I didn't really mean a word of it. I hope you'll forgive an old man and that I can make it up to you during the rest of your stay down here."

Jim extended a brown hand and O'Shanessey grasped it with heartily relief. "You know I'm not as tough as I sometimes like folks to think," he chuckled. "After I was so unreasonable and ordered you off the island I worried a good bit about it. I said to myself, what right have I, an old fool in his dotage, to break up the happiness of the two young people that mean more to me than anyone else in the world."

Landa returned his smile with a sudden lump in her throat. Adorable old rascal, she thought as a wave of warm affection surged through her.

It must have been through Don's influence, she reasoned, that the old man had been brought to his senses. Her eyes met Jim's briefly, long enough to see that they looked relieved and happy.

O'Shanessey's jovial voice broke into Landa's reverie. "I think an occasion of this kind calls for some kind of a celebration. How about a real party at the castle in honor of Mr. Hansen?"

"I think that would be grand!"
Landa thrilled.

"Say, I was just thinking, Blair," O'Shanessey said suddenly. "How about all your men here—the divers and the boat crew—they haven't had a good meal or a taste of fun for weeks. Why couldn't they all come and enjoy themselves?"

Jim frowned but hesitated. "It's good of you to think of them, Mr.
O'Shanessey," he said, "but sometimes breaking into an important job like this with parties throws them off their stride for a day or two, and we haven't any time to waste."

Landa's eyes met his again in a look of sudden disappointment.

"Isn't that being just a bit selfish to deny them one evening of fun when they have worked so hard?" she said hesitantly.

"Maybe it is—" Jim admitted.

"Of course it is! Damned selfish!" boomed O'Shanessey. "I know all about workers. They'll do twice as much for you after they've let off a little steam."

"He means after they've heard him sing," Don laughed. "The quiet of this boat will seem heavenly to them after that."

"That settles it," laughed Jim.
"They come!"

O'Shanessey grinned good-naturedly toward Hansen.

"You can see what I have to put up with from these young folks."

"Well, let's make it definitely for this Saturday night then," Don suggested.

To be continued

A family of four saving its cans for two weeks will have sufficient tin to supply this metal for a portable flame thrower.

THREE TANKERS
ARE LAUNCHED

Chester, Pa., March 24 (AP)— Three new oil tankers, one christened by the wife of Governor Edward Martin, are riding the Delaware river waters today after a triple launching ceremony at the Sun Shipbuilding Company yards.

The company received the Maritime Commission's "M" pennant from Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, Commission chairman, during the ceremony.

A crowd of 33,000 watched, including the Governor, U. S. Senators James J. Davis and Joseph H.
Guffey and the Rt. Rev. Francis M.
Taitt, Episcopal Bishop of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Martin christened the Buena Vista. Mrs. Gladys M. Smith, wife of a labor leader, sponsored the Churubusco, and Mrs. Ira McFarland, wife of a Texas Company official, christened the Georgia.
The launchings came eight minutes apart.

Organize Boys
To Fight Fires

Emporium, Pa., March 24 (AP)— Elk and Cameron counties are organizing older high school boys into fire-fighting crews to relieve an "alarming manpower shortage." Leonard G. Barnes of Emporium, district forester, reported today.

"Most forest fire wardens now are in the armed forces or working in war plants," said Barnes. "This is true, too, of many younger men who in former years volunteered for fire duty. Many of our observation towers are unmanned because the forestry department can't get the men, or women, to man them."

Barnes said fire-fighting will be "a serious business" later this spring.

5 YEARS FOR C. O.

Philadelphia, March 24 (AP)—A five-year prison sentence—the maximum—began today for Robert Vincent Smith, 22, Philadelphia sheet metal worker and self-styled minister of a religious sect, who told federal Judge Paul Leahy he would rather go to prison than a conscientious objectors' camp. The formal charge against him was failure to report to a camp.

HURLEY GIVEN POST IN NEAR, MIDDLE EAST

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
Washington, March 24 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, Presidential handy-man, today prepared to take off on another international assignment—this time into the near and middle east where a pair of diplomatic problems are current:

1—How to bring about a union of resident and fighting French forces; 2—How to apply the Atlantic Charter for the first time in proposed elections for two republics under French control.

Resigns as Minister
President Roosevelt said yesterday he was sending Hurley on a new mission, simultaneously disclosing the latter's resignation from his diplomatic post as minister to New Zealand. The only soldier in the nation's diplomatic service in his most recent capacity, Hurley has flown both the Atlantic and Pacific as the President's emissary, and has visited the continents of North and South America, Europe, Africa, Asia and Australia. Recently he returned from the Russian battlefronts.

His assignment to the Near East aroused particular interest in diplomatic quarters because American hopes for a union of forces between the French commander in North Africa, Gen. Henri Giraud, and the Fighting French chief, Gen. Charles De Gaulle, rest largely on General Catroux, high commissioner in the French mandated territories of Syria and Lebanon.

Catroux is a follower of De Gaulle, but is considered more conciliatory than his chief, and thus perhaps

Wage Increases Given Approval

Philadelphia, March 24 (AP)—The first 20 wage increase applications to come before the Regional War Labor Board's new three-man hearing panels have been approved, the board announced today.

The approvals were given by both the board and the panel groups, which were set up to speed action on smaller cases.

"The board recognizes the necessity of the promptest handling of every case that comes before it and is making every effort to realize this goal," the board said, disclosing that it had a backlog of 1,600 cases.

DIES FROM BURNS
McKeesport, Pa., March 24 (AP)—Burns suffered when fire swept the home of Mrs. Lottie Mossard, 66, caused her death Monday. Firemen blamed an overheated stove for the blaze.

OPPOSE RUMI PLAN
Erie, Pa., March 24 (AP)—Members of the Erie Industrial Union council today were obtaining signatures to petitions denouncing the Rumi tax plan and urging enactment of the Robertson bill for a "pay-as-you-go" tax law.

Costly Fire in Wilkes-Barre
Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 24 (AP)—A spectacular general alarm fire destroyed the 63-year-old, four-story brown block in East Market street between the Jersey Central and Lehigh Valley railroads last night, causing a lost estimated by police and firemen at nearly $500,000.

The walls of the building, a landmark, caved in about 10:30 p. m., three hours after the alarm sounded, and rubble piled onto the business street and across the Lehigh tracks. Traffic temporarily was blocked.

Tenants of the building included the J. B. Carr Biscuit Company, the Franklin Beef Company, and the American Stores, which used one section as a warehouse.

Thousands of spectators jammed the streets while 200 firemen, about 60 of them volunteers from neighboring villages, battled the blaze until nearly midnight. At one time 19 lines of hose were in use. Flames shot 100 feet into the sky and were visible for miles around.

Play Safe, Sonny! Keep Away from those Wires

Boys and girls, we ask you to heed the lineman's friendly warning. Take your kites out to the "wide open spaces," away from all kinds of wires. After all, they interfere with your sport and may damage your kite or cause you to lose it entirely.

Then, too, it's the safe way to enjoy your sport. Even an ordinary cotton cord, commonly used to fly kites, will, under certain conditions, conduct electricity.

In the interest of Safe Play, Reddy Kilowatt, your electrical servant, offers a few "Don'ts" for kite flying enthusiasts:

1. Don't fly your kite near electric wires.
2. Don't use fine wire or tinsel kite string.
3. Don't use metal in any part of the kite's construction if you "build your own."
4. Don't fly a kite with a wet string; it conducts electricity almost as well as a wire.
5. If your kite gets caught in electric wires, don't attempt to remove it.
